March Monthly News

This month

We will start this month meeting all of you at conference time so we can show you all the wonderful things we have been working on in the room. We will also be working on pre-reading skills like rhyming and celebrating Read Across America Day by having a fun week. The fun week information is in the calendar we sent home at the beginning of the year. We will send a flyer home as a reminder. We will also be out enjoying the weather, as much as we can when it is possible to do so. We will also take our learning outside.

This month we will enjoy projects where we have to think and create like making a trap to catch a leprechaun, make a book and how to take care of our body to see what we remembered from our lessons on our body, and we will start our focus on spring as we investigate the changes that we see outside that is happening. We will work on and discuss plants that we would like to grow and how growing is a part of every living thing.

Happy Birthday

Aria- March 25th

Dates to Remember

March 2nd Read Across America Day

Parent/Teacher Conferences- March 3rd and 4th

No School Professional Development Day- March 18th

No School – March 3rd and 4th for children.

Something to Try at Home

On March 2nd is Read Across America. We encourage you to read to your child daily and ask questions that will boost their brain power. We finished our lessons at the end of February about how our brain can grow. Reading to your child every day helps to increase new vocabulary, problem solve skills, gives them the head start of early reading skills, and builds joy in reading and learning. After reading, ask questions that really makes your child think about the story. Ask them how they would change the story. When asking the who, what, and why questions will help them think about the story and allow both of you to have fun discussions. Have fun and happy reading!

Health or Nutrition News

We are looking forward to the snow to stop falling and the weather to warm up. We plan to go out daily when the weather allows. Playing outside is great for children to develop. We look forward to taking walks again and running in the grass. We hope that you enjoy the outside with your child also. I am sure it will help all of us recover from "cabin fever" and being cooped up in the house this winter.
