November Monthly News

This Month

In the last few weeks, we have gone over the different plants that grow in autumn, where they grow and what we use them for. This last month, we were able to experiment with pumpkins and their seeds to see whether they would sink or float. Besides fall crops, we had begun discussing spiders and why we shouldn't be afraid of them.

This upcoming month, we will be diving more into learning our letters by introducing the Zoo Phonics animals. We'll slowly work on each letter, both capital and lower case, so that they can learn to recognize it within their surrounding environment.
